Serving Lemon Grove and nearby communities

Rudd and Rossmiller honored

The efforts on the part of two Lemon Grove women to achieve upward mobility and enter or re-enter the labor market were recognized by Soroptimist International of Lemon Grove at its February 21 meeting.

Rebecca Rudd, mother of two boys, was awarded $500 as part of the Soroptimist International Training Award Program. She is currently working at Helix Adult School on a medical insurance course and she hopes to attend Grossmont College full time, with her eventual goal being medical school.

Rudd said in her application, "I am a very hard worker. I enjoy helping in the community--through 8 years of PTA, Little League and Adopt-A-Child at Christmas. I have been on welfare for the last 5 years on and off. I have overcome the feeling of underachievement by going to work and going back to school to get the skills I need to succeed."

One of her references said, "Rebecca Rudd does not meet some or most of the guidelines for the Training Awards Program--she meets all of them."

The runner-up was Lisa Rossmiller, a 28-year-old mother of five. She is currently a student at Health Occupations Center in Dental Assisting.

Rossmiller works hard for her community as a volunteer at the Lemon Grove Sheriff's Station and one day a week at Monterey Heights and Los Altos Elementary Schools. She has also worked with the Lemon Grove Little league.

The Training Awards recipients met several requirements including financial need, being the head of her household, a specific need for educational training and certain characteristics of maturity such as accepting responsibility and adaptability to new situations.

Lemon Grove's rising star Jade Villalon, nine-year-old with a winning voice

Jade Villalon, 9, moved to Lemon Grove in November and is currently in the fourth grade at Saint John of the Cross Catholic School.

Jade's mother, Pat, said she first recognized her daughter's singing talent when she was seven-years-old. She then enrolled Jade in voice lessons and began honing her singing, dancing, acting and modeling skills.

Jade has modeled in Japan (where her family was stationed for a time) and San Diego for John Robert Powers. She has also performed at the JFK Center for Performing Arts in Washington, D.C.

Jade became eligible for the Cities of America Pageant by winning first place in a San Diego pageant, singing her favorite song, "The Greatest Love of All."

Jade said she thinks the people of Lemon Grove are "friendly and nice" and she would like to thank the following sponsors for wishing her well:

The Video Store, Conrad Lemon Grove Mortuary, Pacific Auto Air Conditioning, Weedman's Carpet and Body Shop Supplies.

Po Folks comes to Lemon Grove

Polar Systems, Inc. of Del Mar dba Po Folks-Lemon Grove has signed a long-term $2,658,600, 20 year lease for a 6,000 square foot family restaurant at 3301 College Avenue, Lemon Grove, according to John Burnham and Company Commercial Real Estate and Continental Pacific Realty, the cooperating brokers.

Peppo Biscarini represented the lessee and Jeff Kane of Continental represented the lessor, Kane, Loban & Marvin of Solana Beach.

The new restaurant will open in about 120 days upon completion of construction.

Cochran announces bid for Lemon Grove City Council seat

by Lisa Parsons

Councilman Brian Cochran formally announced his intent to run for the Lemon Grove City Council for the '90 - 94 term.

Cochran is no stranger to the campaign trail, he ran for the first time in 1977 when he was 21-years-old and then again in 1984 when he came in a close third behind Jim Dorman and Robert Burns. In 1986 he made one more attempt and lost by 22 votes. "It was a miserable, heartbreaking situation," says Cochran. "I had decided that maybe this just wasn't in the cards," but when one of the councilmembers, Dan Kunkel, passed away, Cochran was appointed to the council.

He says he's proud of the job he's done on the council, adding that one of his important functions is "trying to find ways to synthesize agreement between different people," because the members of the council are all very different people with a variety of goals.

The long-time Lemon Grove resident says that the continuation of the redevelopment of the downtown area will be one of the most important tasks for the council in the next few years. The council has just recently expanded the target area for redevelopment and Cochran says, "I think you're going to see that area continue to develop. It is of major concern to the citizenry and historically, the bottom-line from the people has been, 'clean up downtown,' and I think we've done a good job." He cautions however, that redevelopment must accelerate and branch out.

He says he would also like to see "more residential advisory to the council in regards to cleaning up the neighborhoods. I am also extremely interested in bringing two more parks to Lemon Grove." Cochran says parks could be built in the College Avenue area and the downtown area on Broadway towards the end of Lemon Avenue. "Parks serve a lot of decent purposes. They are a good investment and they don't cost a great deal."

In addition to serving on the council, Cochran is an alternate to SANDAG which he feels is a very important position, "SANDAG is the one place that a small city gets to say what it feels." Last year, he served as the delegate to Proposition-C, serving on the panel for controlled growth and he was recently appointed to the Clean Water Advisory Panel.

Cochran sums up his view of the the council with, "There are 25,000 people out there who live in a real decent little community and they expect their public officials to do what's best for them and that's our goal."

"Diary of Anne Frank" to be presented by Junior Theatre

San Diego Junior Theatre presents The Diary of Anne Frank, the enduring drama of a young girl's challenges, triumphs and courage, March 9-18 in the Casa del Prado Theatre in Balboa Park.

This remarkable story follows the real-life diary of a young Jewish girl who spent two years of her life in astonishing circumstances: she was hidden with seven other people in a nest of secret rooms in Nazi occupied Amsterdam. In the diary, Anne wrote of her life before going into hiding, her daily life in the attic from 1943 through 1945, her opinions about her world, ideas about nature, problems with her mother, the first boy she kissed, her fears, feelings of oppression, the past, the future and of her hope. San Diego Junior Theatre's special presentation will be directed by Diane Sinor, Education Director of the Old Globe Theatre. Performances will be presented little-theatre style in an intimate environment and are appropriate for all family members nine years and older.

"The Diary of Anne Frank" is on the State of California Department of Education's recommended reading list and an educational Play Guide will be available to parents and teachers. The Guide will include further information about the play, historical facts about the Holocaust and ideas for further reading. It will also include suggestions for family or classroom discussions about the universality of Anne Frank's life and how racism is viewed in today's world.

Performances of The Diary of Anne Frank are Fridays March 9 and 16 at 7 p.m., Saturdays March 10 and 17 at 2 p.m. (matinees) and 7 p.m. and Sundays March 15 and 18 at 2 p.m.

All tickets are $5 and seating is general admission. Reservations should be made early, as seating is limited. Tickets are available by calling the Box Office at 239-8355 Tuesday through Friday, 12:30-4:30 and through Teleseat (283-SEAT) and Times ArtTix. The Box Office opens one and one-half hours before each performance.

San Diego Junior Theatre is a non-profit organization in its 42nd year of providing San Diego's youth and the community with quality arts education.

The classic film "Phantom of the Opera" will be shown at ECPAC

Silent screen classic The Phantom of the Opera, complete with authentic live music, is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. on March 17 at the East County Performing Arts Center. In addition to the famous horror film starring Lon Chaney, the program will include a classic Laurel and Hardy comedy, Two Tars.

Both films will be backed up by the San Diego Cine-phonics Orchestra under the baton of Eric Beheim. The orchestra's size and composition are closely patterned after the pit orchestras once prevalent in San Diego's deluxe cinema palaces.

Reserved seats are on sale now and may be obtained by calling the Performing Arts Center at 440-2277 between noon and 6 p.m. or at Ticketmaster outlets.

Tickets are popularly priced at $6 general admission and $5 for seniors and students. The program is sponsored by the College of Extended Studies, Grossmont-Cuyamaca Community College District.

Aerospace Hall of Fame Education Department develops educational space camp

Parents looking for summer vacation activities for their youngsters, offering more than just recreational events, now have access to a new live-in summer "camp" with a format based on Aviation and Space Sciences. AEROCENTER '90, the live-in, six-day summer aviation and space sciences "camp" is enrolling seventh and eighth grade students now.

The students ("AEROSPACE CAMPERS") will live on campus at the University of San Diego, while they investigate the past, present and future of aviation and spaceflight. They will take part in simulated aviation flight programs, design a spacecraft and fly a simulated manned space mission. The students will also see how education in science and math can lead to aviation and space exploration careers.

The professionally-staffed program is sponsored by the Education Department of The International Aerospace Hall of Fame, a non-profit organization. A team of educators and industry specialists offering their personal support to develop the program includes Dr. Lars Helgeson, Science Coordinator for San Diego County Schools, Tanya McCarthy, Twin Peaks Middle School, Tom Davis, Southwestern Junior High, Doris Ritchey, Anza Elementary and Joe Alcala, General Dynamics.

The program is being developed to follow guidelines of the new science framework. Advisors for program concepts include Dr. Gloria McMillan, teacher-in-space candidate, La Jolla High School, Gene Vosicky and Gil Yannov, Jet Propulsion Laboratory, and Al Borman, Rockwell International.

This summer, four sessions will be offered, running from July 8 through August 4. The cost of a six-day session is under three hundred dollars.

The fee includes a double room with all meals, special program fees, field trips, T-shirt, flight suit and patch.

Showcase Writers Club accepting entries for 24th annual writing contest

The Showcase Writers Club is now accepting entries for their 24th annual county-wide contest. Deadline for entries is midnight June 25.

There are five categories in the contest this year; adult stories, articles, humorous poetry, serious poetry and stories for children. Strict attention to word count is stressed. Adult stories should be 1500 words or less, articles and stories for children no more than 1200 words, poetry 24 lines or less.

For a copy of the rules send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Showcase Writers Club, P.O. Box 691, Lemon Grove, 92045.

First, second and third winners in each category will receive an attractive trophy. Three honorable mention certificates will be awarded in each category. Their works, as well as selected pieces from other entrants, are compiled each year in a paperback book that will be for sale to the public.

Each year a different panel of judges is chosen from among local journalists and teachers at colleges, universities and high schools. Each entry must bid for a judge's approval solely on merit. Manuscripts are identified by numbers only and winners are never selected by one judge acting alone.

"In October we hold an award night at the Ben Polak Auditorium in La Mesa," said Everett Lucas, president of Showcase. "Maybe it is not as glitzy as Oscar night in Hollywood, but it is a fun time when writers from all over the county get together to share a moment of triumph."

Showcase Writers meet the 2nd and 4th Tuesday 1-3 p.m. La Mesa Community Center, 4975 Memorial Drive. Evening meetings are 2nd and 4th Wednesday 7-9 p.m. For the meeting place of the evening sessions call 466-1608.

From Where I Sit

by Frank Andrews

Getting a piece of the Rock

Grandchildren are such a precious commodity. Every grandparent should have at least one and every grandchild should have at least one grandparent. To have a fully rounded normal family life as the Lord intended, grandpas or grandmas have to be included.

One of the many amenities of my second marriage was to combine two families: seven kids—"Hers", "Mine", and so far none of "Ours". As of the last count we have 13 grandkids.

I can remember how excited my wife was when she heard that her oldest daughter was expecting her first baby. "Try to settle down from cloud nine," I teased, "You weren't this excited when I proposed marriage to you."

Then, just a short time later, my oldest daughter announced to us that she too was pregnant. Now it was my turn to ride on that cloud. I believe that I was as thrilled from that announcement as I was at the time of my first daughter's birth.

I was a young, eager parent struggling so hard and fast to start a career that there just wasn't enough time to spend with my kids. When it was time to be a grandparent, life had slowed enough for time and appreciation of the grandchildren.

One big advantage of grandchildren is that when they get on your nerves you can send them back home to their parents. When my youngest daughter came here from Colorado with her two little ones for a week, I was so excited to see them I invited Kit, my grandson who was five at the time, to stay the summer with us. After just a couple days with that little guy I told my daughter, "I've changed my mind, please take him back home with you." He has since turned out to be such a nice, good-looking little gentleman that I'm proud to have him for a fishing partner anytime.

I did spend a wonderful summer up in Canada with my oldest daughter's three fine sons when they were just young lads. I only wish that we had been closer and could have enjoyed and gotten to know them better.

Those little tykes are now over six-foot tall and do make a handsome "Three Stooges".

The youngest, Jeff the "Farmer", is a senior in high school, the second, Brad the "Mechanic", is in his first year at St. Olaf College, and the oldest, Chris the "Brain", is presently attending college in Lancaster, England.

Chris had been touring the Continent during his break and learning how the rest of the world lives, including some of the things that you can't get out of a book. I just received a very interesting, in-detail letter from him about his recent sightseeing tours. I found enclosed in the envelope and with great astonishment, a piece of the Berlin Wall. He wrote, "I would have sent a bigger piece but couldn't afford the postage." His thoughtful gesture only bolstered my love and admiration for my fine grandson.

So now I have a new addition to my collection of cherished memorabilia; A most interesting letter from Chris and "My Piece of the Rock."

Orange County oil spill is evidence of an urgent need for protective legislation

by Paul Treske

The long dreaded spectre of the Alaskan oil spill finally made its inevitable appearance off the Southern California Coast several weeks ago. Of course as experts are quick to point out the Orange County Spill was only 1/35 the size of last year's Exxon Valdez disaster and for that we are grateful. But given the enormous tanker traffic up and down our coast plus President Bush's apparent fixation on drilling in California waters, the warning is clear.

To his eternal credit, Senator Pete Wilson remains a staunch foe of offshore drilling and a supporter of maximum effort to protect the precious California coastal environment. But both the governor and the President appear not to be listening. Deukmejian continues to support offshore drilling while Bush, who days before had rejected immediate action on global warming, reacted to the recent close call by stating "I don't see that a spill from a tanker has much to do with whether you can drill an offshore well safely." While he can be given credit for a kind of sophomoric logic, it would appear that he and others have already blocked out the horror of the 1969 Santa Barbara oil rig disaster. After all, that was 20 years ago!

Accidents and malfunctions will happen, of course, as long as the petroleum industry exists. We cannot, at least at this time, survive without oil. But there are things that can be done. Tankers can be double hulled; a bill is currently in Congressional Committee to ensure that. But, while we wait, it is chilling to note that the nearly completed repairs on the Exxon Valdez will put her to sea again as a single hulled tanker. Better prevention and emergency cleanup plans can be mandated. And, above all, offshore drilling in California must be banned!

Most certainly there are incredibly valuable pools of oil out there, valuable enough to compromise lots of principles. But we have a choice to make. Oil can be found elsewhere and other fuels can be developed. But our coastline has no options. Worrying about it cannot be left for another time. It is ours to hold...or to lose.

Congressman Bates pushing war against smokers with introduction of two anti-smoking bills

Congressman Jim Bates has introduced legislation proposing a new national effort to reduce smoking and tobacco use.

Congressman Bates introduced two bills, the Tobacco Product Education and Health Protection Act of 1990 and the Smoke Free Schools Act of 1990, to increase governmental education efforts on the harmful effects of tobacco use, increase educational efforts targeted at young people, blue collar workers and minorities, and support individual state efforts to create and improve programs to limit the use of tobacco products by minors.

The bills also restrict advertising, making it illegal for the tobacco industry to place advertisements in publications directed toward youth, and restricting in other ways advertising and promotion which reaches children.

This legislation also establishes federal regulatory authority over tobacco for health purposes, including more useful disclosures of additives, as well as requiring a new warning label on the addictive qualities of tobacco products.

"There is a tremendous need for legislation of this type. The number of deaths caused by tobacco use in this country is staggering", said Bates.

Tobacco use is responsible for one out of every six deaths in America--390,000 deaths a year. Smoking causes 87 percent of lung cancer and 33 percent of all cancers. It causes 40 percent of heart disease, 18 percent of strokes, and 10 percent of infant mortality.

"A key component of this legislation is education. A lot of people don't realize how dangerous tobacco products are", said Congressman Bates.

Studies show that 34% of high school seniors don't believe smoking a pack a day causes great risk of harm and 29% of all smokers don't know that smoking causes heart disease.

Congressman Bates' legislation is supported by virtually all major medical and public health groups in the nation, including the American heart Association, the American Lung Association, the American Cancer Society, and the American Medical Association.

Both of the bills have 10 original co-sponsors in the House of Representatives.

Sports Commentary

by John E. Wirges

Honors long overdue

The huge contracts and instant wealth of today's major leaguers were undreamed of by players coming under consideration this week by the Hall of Fame Veteran's selection committee.

The committee is limited to a pair of nominations from the enormous field of deserving players previously passed over by the Baseball Writers Association of America.

Aye, there's the rub. Only two out of so many. And as the years pass, the memory of great accomplishments often dims.

Former San Diego Padre president E. J. "Buzzie" Bavasi is a member of the Veteran's Committee and will lend his considerable judgment and executive abilities to the selection process.

Buzzie will again nominate former National League left-hander Larry French for consideration. Unfortunately, that is about as far as French will get. Nominated, but not acted upon.

And that's the shame. Larry French deserves much more than that from the game he played so hard and served so well.

French would have likely been voted into the Hall of Fame at his first eligibility, if his career hadn't been cut short by military service in World War II.

He started his baseball career with Portland of the old Pacific Coast League and in 1929, at the age of 22, moved up to Pittsburgh. Over the next 14 years, French earned "Ironman" ratings by posting 199 complete games on the way to 197 wins, 40 of which were shutouts.

In 1942, French went 15-4, beating Philadelphia in his last game with a 1-hit shutout. He would never play pro ball again.

French was 35 years old, married and a father. He could easily have ducked military service, but that wasn't his way.

Commissioned and assigned as a Navy Engineering Supply Officer for the invasion forces at Normandy, he landed at Omaha Beach on D-Day plus 3.

He was responsible for keeping all landing craft afloat and running in order to supply the American invasion forces on Omaha and Utah Beaches. They stripped parts from shot up equipment, often under sniper fire, and kept their craft afloat.

In the 49 days between the invasion and the break out by American and British forces from the Cherbourg Peninsula, French's little scavenger fleet landed most of the supplies and food for more than a million men.

He was in the Pacific aboard the USS New York, preparing his landing craft for the invasion of Japan when the war ended.

French was 39 years old when the war ended, too old to go back to baseball. He never did get his 200th win. His record stopped at 197 wins with a 1-hit shutout in 1943.

It's too bad that hasn't been good enough to get him into the Hall of Fame. He deserves to be there. But his chances are fading with each passing year. Godspeed on your mission, Buzzie.

Letters to the editor

Where have all the women gone?

Dear Editor,

I'm disappointed! Of those fine folks who have drawn filing documents to become candidates for city council positions, incumbent Lois Heiserman is the sole woman!

I encourage any woman who feels herself qualified, to enter the race. There are no specific prerequisites other than that candidates must be residents of Lemon Grove, must be registered voters and also have the time and desire to help mold the future of our community.

But do act soon! The filing period concludes March 14 and time must be allowed to obtain the necessary valid signatures on your candidate's petition.

Although the monetary compensation is minimal, the intrinsic rewards are beyond count.

Any hesitant candidate-to-be is welcome to call me weekdays at 464-6624.

To obtain candidates filing information contact Karen Huff at City Hall, 464-6934.

Karen O'Rourke
Councilmember (out-going)
City of Lemon Grove

Leukemia Society is turning trash into cash

Are newspapers, bottles and cans piling up around your house? The Leukemia Society of America, along with Mobile Recycling, is offering a new way to recycle and give to charity at the same time. Just bring your glass, aluminum, plastic and newspapers to your nearest Mobile Recycling Center and you have the opportunity to donate your recycling dollars to the Leukemia Society.

The Leukemia Society of America is a national voluntary health agency committed to finding the cause and cure of leukemia and the allied diseases. Proceeds from this recycling project will support the Society's programs of research, patient aid, education and community service.

Recycling for charity can help fight this #1 child killing disease and help clean up our environment! For the location of the Mobile Recycling Center nearest you, call (714) 891-7766.

Renovation and fundraising continue at the Teaching of the Inner Christ Center

The Teaching of the Inner Christ Center (for Spiritual Development) was founded in 1962 by Dr. Makeever with co-founder Peter Meyer. Worship services were held in their home and the Hospitality House in Balboa Park before moving to a large home in San Diego.

The Lemon Grove Center headed by Rev. Roberta Zito, D.D. purchased the prime acre of property consisting of 4 buildings at 3150 Main St. on June 1986.

The original Atherton Chapel of the Congregational Church (the Lodge) was built in 1894 and is the oldest church building in the area.

The administration building, lodge, caretaker's house, and part of the historic church building have already been renovated.

The T.I.C. organization has set a goal of raising $440,000 to be met by July of this year, 1990, to pay off the existing mortgage and own their facility debt-free.

Rev. Zito is asking the help of all to realize their goal by mid-summer. For more information concerning the Center and its fund drive, please call Rev. Zito at 697-3900.

Grossmont "Salute to Women" series continues through March 17

Grossmont Hospital is celebrating the opening of its new $14 million, state-of-the-art Women's Health Center with a month-long "Salute To Women" series of fun and educational events offered free of charge to the general public. The series, which kicked-off on February 20th, features a unique blend of topics and speakers designed to appeal to the varied interests of today's women.

"Because the Women's Health Center offers specialized care for women of all ages and backgrounds, we wanted our opening activities to reflect that same philosophy," says Lisa Branciforte, Director of Women's Services. "The Salute To Women series offers everything from educational lectures on today's hottest health topics, to fashion and appearance seminars, to career and business-oriented sessions on starting your own company and financial planning. In addition, we're hosting several well-known local and national celebrities for presentations, which are also offered free of charge." All events take place at the Women's Health Center Auditorium; reservations may be made by calling 589-4151.

Monday, March 5, 7:00 p.m.

Cancer of all kinds is one of the major health concerns of today's women. Cathy Harvey, director of Oncology Services at Grossmont Hospital will tap into her experiences and share information on the varieties of cancer most common to women. Symptoms, treatments and preventive measures will be presented with much of the program devoted to questions.

Tuesday, March 6, 7:00 p.m.

As more women focus their early years on career success, many are delaying childbirth until after the age of 35. Although these women may feel better prepared to raise children, they may also be apprehensive about the special risks accompanying pregnancy and delivery in their age group. Thomas Key, M.D. Chief of Perinatology at Grossmont Hospital, discusses how "thirty-something" moms can ensure a successful pregnancy and delivery in "Pregnancy After 35."

Wednesday, March 7, 7:00 p.m.

Dr JoAnn Biner, a licensed counselor, has been on both sides of a love triangle. During her second marriage, she discovered her husband had been involved in a lengthy affair. Then after her marriage ended, she found herself experiencing life as "the other woman" when she fell in love with a married man. Dr. Biner will explore these love triangles in a presentation titled "Single Women, Married Men," which was also the title of a made-for-television movie based on her support group for "other women."

Thursday, March 8, 6:00 p.m.

Grown children who must care for their aging parents is a role reversal that is becoming more common every day. Learn about the special problems and experiences evoked by this new relationship as well as local resources available in "Full Circle: Caring for Your Parents." Grossmont Hospital professionals Ruth Brawdy and Deborah Viss-Bailey are the featured speakers.

Friday, March 9, 7:00 p.m.

PMS, infertility, multiple miscarriages, osteoporosis. As both principal consumer of health care services and the family's health care decision maker, the woman of today is having an even greater say in her won health care. Gynecologist Carolle Jean-Murat, M.D., offers timely, accurate information for decision-makers in her presentation "Health Concerns of Women."

Saturday, March 10, 10:00 a.m.

It's not just household hints anymore! Heloise, whose syndicated column appears in many newspapers and who is a contributing editor for Good Housekeeping magazine and a regular on television's "Home" show, has helped make women's lives easier for many years with household hints. Today, she has expanded her advice to include beauty tips, problems facing working couples and caring for high-tech devices. She shares this information in her unique and humorous presentation "Lifestyle Management: The Heloise-y Way."

Ruling allows food stamp recipients to work for 1990 census without losing benefits

Food stamp recipients in most states and United States territories can work on the 1990 census without losing any benefits as a result of the additional income, a United States Department of Agriculture official announced today.

The decision, which is a waiver of the usual food Stamp Program rules, is part of demonstration project planned by the Department of Agriculture's Food and Nutrition Service (FNS), which oversees the food Stamp Program.

Catherine Bertini, assistant secretary of agriculture for food and consumer services, announced the project. "So far all but seven states--Alabama, Connecticut, Florida, Georgia, Idaho, Kansas, and New Hampshire--have indicated they would participate," she said.

States that participate will provide information to help FNS study the effect of short-term employment on long-term employability of food stamp recipients.

"States which are a part of this project will disregard income earned by temporary census workers when food stamp benefits are computed," said Bertini. "This will help get an accurate count of all people in the United States.

In addition, it will allow participating families some extra income, provide census with much-needed temporary assistance, help lead to permanent employment, and help FNS with useful new information on the Food Stamp Program."

Each state handles its own food stamp application and distribution process. Normally, additional income would lead to a reduction in food stamp recipients' monthly benefits. Benefits are computed on the basis of the number of people in a household, their income, assets, rent and other financial obligations, and other factors. A change in any of the factors, including income, can mean a change in the benefit level.

The Census Bureau expects to hire some 300,000 temporary workers to help with the count of the nation's citizens, which takes place every 10 years. The bureau has already begun hiring census takers and support workers for the census, which begins in April. pay will range from $4.50 to $9 per hour, depending on the region and the type of work.

This demonstration project is the result of the combined efforts of the Bureau of the Census, U.S. Department of Commerce and FNS. The Family Support Administration of the U. S. Department of Health and Human Services will conduct a demonstration resulting in a similar waiver for recipients of Aid to Families with Dependent Children (AFDC).

NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE OF FRIEDA L. SHORTT
Case Number: 151237
To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may be otherwise interested in the will or estate, or both, of: FRIEDA L. SHORTT
A PETITION has been filed by AGNES B. LARSEN in the Superior Court of California, County of San Diego
THE PETITION requests that AGNES B. LARSEN be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.
THE PETITION requests the decedent's WILL and codicils, if any, be admitted to probate. The will and any codicils are available for examination in the file kept by the court.
THE PETITION requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.
A HEARING on the petition will be held on Mar. 12, 1990 at 1:45 p.m. in Dept. F-5, located at 1501-55 Sixth Avenue, San Diego, CA. 92101
IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.
IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the decedent, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within four months from the date of first issuance of letters as provided in section 9100 of the California Probate Code. The time for filing claims will not expire before four months from the hearing date noticed above.
YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a formal Request for Special Notice of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in section 1250 of the California Probate Code. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk.

SANDAG to oversee planning and growth management in San Diego County region

All 18 city councils and the San Diego County Board of Supervisors have voted to designate SANDAG (the San Diego Association of Governments) as the Regional Planning and Growth Management Review Board for the San Diego region.

Under the new "regional board" designation, SANDAG will develop a regional growth management strategy for issues such as growth rate policies, phasing and distribution of growth, open space preservation, the siting and financing of regional facilities, and quality of life objectives.

SANDAG Chairperson Lois Ewen said, "Making SANDAG the regional board clearly demonstrates that locally elected officials can work together to tackle the number one issue facing all of us - growth. No one jurisdiction can handle the growth issue alone. Together, in the cooperative forum SANDAG provides, the cities and the County can develop agreed upon growth strategies."

Designation of SANDAG as the regional review board culminates a year's work by the Proposition C Blue Ribbon Committee. The committee was chaired by County Supervisor Brian Bilbray and composed of mayors and councilmembers from the region's 18 incorporated cities.

Bilbray noted, "In the very near future, if we as local officials don't deal with growth on a regional level, the state will mandate our actions." However, he said, "SANDAG has been singled out by many California legislators as the model for the state because of the agency's regional work."

In November 1988, voters countywide passed Proposition C-an advisory measure, authored by Bilbray, calling for the creation of a regional board to deal with growth issues on a countywide basis. SANDAG Directors and alternates will serve as the Regional Planning and Growth Management Review Board.

Come rain or shine, waterhogs are waterhogs. Their sprinkler systems go on even when it's raining cats and dogs. They don't realize how important it is to use water wisely in the winter.

Don't be a winter waterhog.

Winter rain in San Diego doesn't wash away the fact that saving water is a year-round necessity. That's because local rain water contributes little to our daily supply. It's actually the melted snow that feeds the Colorado River and Northern California rivers that we rely on all year for 90% of our water.

There's no reason to go hog wild in winter.

Fact is, most lawns and shrubs are dormant in winter. So heavy watering, whether it's at homes, parks, schools or businesses, is more of a waste than ever. Water less frequently. Shorten the minutes your automatic sprinklers run. And, please, turn them off if rain is in the forecast.

Conservation. Our way of life.

There's a lot we can do to be water tight. To quench your thirst for more information, just give us a call at (619) 297-3218.
